Due to the need to prepare project application for funding of the conference organization, please send a participant's application indicating the title of the report and its brief abstract by March 22, 2020.

Information on the size of the registration fee and the conditions of accommodation for participants will be presented in the following information letters.

REGISTRATION OF PARTICIPANTS AND OF THE REPORTS

Registration of participants and reports will be open on the website <http://rusdendro.uran.ru> from November 2019. For those who were previously registered at the RusDendro-2011, RusDendro-2014, or RusDendro-2017, to register you only need to enter the conference page under the username and password that was used for the previous conference. If you forgot your username or password, click on the "Восстановить пароль" (Reset Password) button and enter your email address.

Registration of participants occurs separately from registration of reports. First, you need to register as a participant using the link "Регистрация участника конференции" (Registration of the conference participant) on the left. Fill out the form that appears. Fields marked with an asterisk are obligatory. After filling the form, click the button "Зарегистрироваться" (Register). In the future, you can edit your data using the username and password you entered. If you intend to submit a report with co-authors, please wait until they are all registered.

To register a report, click on the link "Мои доклады" (My reports) in the left column (if you register the report later, you will first need to log into the site as a participant by entering your username and password in the left column). In the form that appears, enter the title of the report, its brief abstract and type of report (oral / poster). Then click the button "Запомнить" (Remember). After that, you can enter information about the co-authors of the report. The names of the co-authors must be entered in the order in which they should be in the conference program. The maximum length abstract is 500 characters. It will be visible to all visitors to the website. Registration ends on March 22, 2020.
